

Workwear

cls group aim to make the task of workwear provision and management as easy as possible for our customers, by laundering and managing workwear in accordance with a prearranged management programme throughout its contracted life. We collect and inspect each garment on receipt and carry out any necessary repairs.

Our representatives ensure that the workwear supplied meets your needs, is durable and, above all, comfortable for your staff to wear. We offer a wide range of styles and colours for all types of workwear.

How the system works

Employers issue each garment wearer with the amount of workwear required, from one change a week to as many changes as staff need according to the type of work being undertaken. We supply sufficient workwear to last each wearer a week, plus a spare set for the day our driver calls. Each garment is marked individually and tracked using transponder technology, which enables us to produce management reports for customers if required.

Managed workwear system

As a part of our service we offer a managed workwear system. Our operators deliver clean garments directly to the wearers' individual lockers, ensuring that no time is wasted by employees sorting and putting away workwear. Soiled garments are collected from bulk collecting lockers by our service personnel. Our aim is to make the workwear system as easy for you as possible. Employees have access to their lockers 24 hours a day, and garments are always secure, clean and tidy.

Workwear badges

To complement your workwear we can design and supply company logo badges and employee name badges to give a personal look to your employees' workwear. Our representatives will be happy to discuss your requirements.
